

2022-2023 plantation campaign

Once again this year, once the planting campaign by the Parks and Gardens Service has finished, the final data carried out is published on the corporate website.

The data is presented by district, specific location, number of specimens, and planted species, for the information of the public.

- Total plantations by species
- Plantations by streets and by species

Of the lists enumerated, it is worth highlighting that the majority of the trees were planted on roads, exceeding 350 specimens in the East-Alcosa-Torreblanca, North and Cerro-Amate Districts.

Also noteworthy are the 459 specimens destined for large parks, where there was collaboration from the popular initiative.

Among these, a great effort has been made in the Vega de Triana-Muro Carlos III Park where up to 350 units have been planted.

This Service is already working on the next 2023-2024 Plantation campaign to acquire the largest number of specimens in quantity and diversity, in order to provide the city of Seville with more green spaces and conserve the existing ones. All this with the aim of improving the quality of life of the citizen, and adapting to the climate emergency and the general rise in temperatures.

The green ring and the city's connections to it are also being studied.
