City Of Mobile Opens New Playground At Tricentennial Park

Officials recently held an opening ceremony for the new playground at Frederick D. Richardson Jr. Tricentennial Park, and the park has already been recognized as a Project of Excellence in PlayCore's National Demonstration Site Network due to a unique design, WKRC reports. The park is designed in a figure eight pattern, and a sign showing the park's recognition explains that it meets the "best practices in youth fitness through sliding, swinging, spinning, climbing, brachiating and balancing."
